East Washington Anti-Radical Club.

A second meeting of the anti-Radical citizens of the Fifth and Sixth Wards (Capitol Hill) was held last night at Frommel's Hall, on D street, between Fifth and Sixth streets. The Free dent, Mr. J. A. McCathran, on taking the chair, stated that it was well known that the meetings which had been held were preliminary to a permanent organization of the Conservative forces throughout the two wards designated above, in order to checkmate the destructive influences of Radical fanaticism. Mr. Andrew J. McKenna, chairman of the committee appointed at the last meeting to wait on and confer with the Western States anti-Radical Club as to the propriety of uniting with that association, stated that they had performed the legitimate duties devolving upon them, and had concluded that it would be best before any action was taken to await a perma-

sent organization of the two clubs, which it was now proposed to form. The Secretary, Mr. J. M. Dalton, hoped the Committee would be continued till the next meeting. The weather was unpropitions and the crowd small in consequence thereof; but he had no doubt that the "true and tried" of East Washington were fully awake to the issues at stake, and at the next meeting would come in greater numbers. Besides, there was no immediate necessity of organization into Ward clubs. It was not certain whether Congress would let them have another election, and n case it did not these organizations are nnnecessary. The moment there was any certain. ty that another election would take place among the people for municipal officers, the Anti-Radicals would, he believed, step forward with alacrity and prepare for the contest. The Conservative element in Washington was this day stronger than at the last election, and all that they wanted was the opportunity of again being pitted against the Radicals-not the tlack -Radicals, but it was the white negro radicals that they wished to fight. In behalf of the party to which he belonged, he dared the radicals to another issue. They would not again find the conservatives so easy to manage as at the last election. Major Richards and all of his police force could not now keep the white men from the polls till the negroes had cast their bailots in phalanxes, as had been the case on a former occasion. Let there be fair play-the white man possessing equal privileges with the black and white radical negroes, and there need be no fear as to the result. Mr. McNerhany, the conservative candidate for Collector at the last election, obtained over six thousand votes of the eight thousand white voters of Washington, and now all the white men wanted was an opportunity, and the radicals, with their black cohorts, would be whipped out of their boots.

A voice.-Let's go to work and fight them. Mr. Pumphrey regarded delays as dangerous; for by proscrastinating, Congress might take the charter away, and spring other ones. tions as unexpectedly and unjust as that body had the Stanton and Grant affair. The administration should be sustained and now was the time to prepare for the coming issues. He was in favor of separate ward clubs; let each ward run its own machine and have special places of the Congressional District Committee. meeting, even should they have to invest ter cents apiece for room rent, and have besides to borrow that amount from the soup house. The Chair favored permanent organization forthwith; but wished to be relieved of the office which he held. Mr. Dalton suggested that the officers of the meeting then in session be authorized to call a meeting in one week's time, either to consolidate or to organize teparate clubs in both the Fixth and Sixth Wards. The question could then be considered as to the best mode of preparing for the municipal election of this spring, if one should be permitted, or in case of a change of charter, for the approaching fall cam-

Mr. Barnes inferred from frequent conversations which he had had with his neighbors of the Fifth Ward, that it was their desire to have an independent club of their own. For his own part he cared but little as to the manner of organization, so that the Conservatives were prepared for the issue against Radacalism when it came. With or without the charter, he was in favor of fighting the Radicals, although he held office under the city government, and it might be antagonistic to his interests to say so. Mr. Dalton moved that when this meeting adjourns it adjourn sine tie, and each ward (the Fifth and Sixth) be invited to form separate clubs.

Mr. John Meads apprehended that there would be some difficulty in getting regularly together sufficient crowds to keep up a club in the Fifth Ward. He favored a junction club of the Fifth and Sixth Wards, as the best means of perpetuating and strengthening the Conservative party of Washington; but still he would adhere to the action of the meeting, or would join any Democratic club, in any place, where the fight would be hardest against the Radicals. He was ready to battle against Radicalism in any shape, and thought the best means of thwarting the nefarious designs of the Radicals was consolidation meetings.

The Chair said he endorsed Mr. Meads' policy, and thought that in union there was strength. The question upon Mr. Dalton's motion was put, and the meeting agreed to adjourn sine die, with the understanding that each ward would have its own club.

NEW TRANSPORTATION COMPANY .- The proposition to establish a line of steamers for the transportation of coal direct from the mines, on the Schuylkill canal, to Washington, without trans-shipment in Philadelphia, was formally introduced at a meeting of moneyed citizens, held on Monday night at No. 448 15th street. The organization was effected by the election of John B. Turton as President, Geo. F. McClellan treasurer, and R. P. Dodge secretary. The stock with which the company organizes has been fixed at $50,000, a portion of which has already been taken by responsible gentleman in this city and elsewhere, and capitalist are invited to call and examine the statement as to the nature of the enterprise, which has been made up, based upon the contempla-ted working of the company. The project, which is fraught with economical result, is to load with hard coat to and with soft coal from Washington, and this avoidance of trans-shipment is alone sufficient, it is estimated, to furnish a handsome dividend on the whole capital

AN EXTENSIVE SALE OF FURNITURE .-Messrs. Cooper & Latimer, auctioneers, will sell next week, commencing on Monday morning at 10 o'clock, at the late residence of the deceased British Minister, Sir Frederick Bruce, No 30 L street north, between 24th and 25th streets west, his magnificent furniture and bousehold effects, being the largest and finest stock ever offered for sale here. It comprises rich Turkish carpets, lace curtains and cornice, huge mirrors, gilt back chairs, damask covered lounges, arm-chairs, covered with red silk damask, chintz and other rich materials; mahogany, oak-carved, walnut and other fur-niture, composed of tables, chairs, book-cases, desks, stands, lounges, sofas, &c., as well as the furniture of a well stocked billiard room; artieles of rich and unique design for the pantry. eupbeard, kitchen, larder, steward's room, servants' room, footman's room, &c.

SAM COLLYER'S CHALLENGE .- Sam Collyer in a letter to the New York Clipper, explains his recent challenge to mean that he is ready to meet any 124-pound man in the country, and fight for from $1,000 to $5,000 a side, in six months' time from date of signing articles; the tattle to take place in the State of Virginia or North Carolina. He says his sole reason for naming the above States is because there is no law in existence rendering prize fighting a penal offence within their limits, whereas in most other States such laws do exist, and he has no desire to become liable to imprisonment or to be the instrument of rendering others liable thereto by violating the same. This proposition is to remain open two weeks from February 3d.

ELECTION OF A PASTOR.-Last evening, a congregational meeting was held at the Assem-bly's Presbyterian Church, at which the Rev. John C. Smith presided, for the purpose of electing a pastor to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. T. B. McFalls some time since on account of ill-health. There were four candidates for the place, viz: Rev. Wm. Hart, of New York; Rev. Mr. Boynton, of Brooklyn; Rev. Mr. Ward, and Rev. Mr. Johnson; and after a very spirited canvass the first named was declared the choice of the congre-

Seventh Ward Radical Meeting-The Harlan Bill-The Washington Canal, &c. Last evening a meeting of the Radical Repubiean Club, Seventh Ward, and "those who favor an extension of the Charter as embodied in Mr. Harlan's bill now before the Senate," was held in Mr. Lee's Church, on Sixth street west, between H and G south. At eight o'clock the church was crowded, mostly with colored people. The whites present were Dr. Boyd, President, in the chair, A. Watson, Jos. Williams,

Dr. Ricord, J. H. Crane, and one other whose name our reporter could not obtain. Dr. Boyd, in calling the meeting to order, read the above notice, as also the notice pablished in the STAR of January 28th for a meeting on the 29th, and stated that the reason no meeting was held at the last-named date was that the pastor of St. Pani's Chapel withdrew his consent to the meeting being held in the church. He stated that one great reason for calling the meeting was because a number of influential and monied men, Democrats, Conservatives, and Republicans. A voice-And you never will see any,] had met together and were asking that a new government be formed by which suffrage, which they had fought for so long, would be thrown overboard, and they proposed that the District be placed under Commissioners who must own $10,000 worth of real

W. B. Jones (colored) was nominated and elected Secretary pro tem. Dr. Boyd submitted the following:

Resolved, That Mr. Harlan's bill, now before the United States Senate, to extend and so amend the city charter as to strike out the word white and make justices of the peac; elective by the people, and confirmations of city officers by joint session of both Boards of Aldermen and Council is only justice, and should be achered to. Resolved, That we reprobate the idea of the appointment of commissioners, who would and could be none other than veritable autocrats, whose business it would be to take away all the liberties of the people. Resolved, That universal suffrage is not a ulure; that it is not only practical and wise, but must not be receded from by our legislators, national or municipal, upon any consideration whatever; our rallying-cry must be justice, quality, fraternity, liberty, and progress.

Mr. A. Watson moved that the resolutions be amended so as to recommend that no qualifications be required, and that the consolidation of Georgetown and the county be stricken out. He did not know whether the consolidation would be wise or not, for he did not know whether, under a consolidated government, an election could be carried for the radicals. If the party could not win, he did not want consolidation. Mr. Arthur Pannell (colored) remarked that he did not see the use of the resolutions when the Central association had men at the Capitol attending to these very things. What influence would this roomfull of colored people have with Congress! Four or five white men come here to get the colored men in a trap. Out of all present there were not twenty employed, and you talk about going to Congress. He moved to adjourn.

Dr. Boyd refused to entertain the motion saying that he understood parties were to comhere to break up the meeting, and it should not

Mr. R. Bacon rose to ask an explanation, but the Chair ordered him to take his seat, saying that he came there to make a disturbance, and he would remind the gentleman that there was such a place as a criminal court. Mr. Bacon indignantly denied that he had come for any such purpose. After considerable more debate the resolutions were adopted; the second having been amended to read: "That we reprobate the idea of the appointment of commissioners for the government of this city, and that all property qualifications in said bill be stricken out; and that the consolidation of Georgetown and county be also stricken out;" and the secretary was instructed to transmit copies to the chairman of

J. H. Crane said that he would like Mr Pannell to inform the meeting what he meant by four or five white men undertaking to trap the colored people, and at considerable length spoke of his course as a true friend of the colored man, both here and at the North. Mr. Pannell (colored) said that he did not refer to Mr. Crane, who was not now a citizen of the ward. Mr. Joseph Williams said he probably was one alluded to by Mr. Pannell, but he could not say whether he meant him or not. Pannell had got so much white blood in his veins that there was but little of the nig left; he did not look on him as a true representative of the colored

Mr. Pannell (excitedly) .- Mr. Williams voted a rebel ticket, and Mr. Pannell never did Cries of "order," &c., during which Mr Pannell said that he would not be standered by such a man, and he did not come from home for that purpose.

Mr. Williams continued speaking of what he had done for the colored people and his cause during the war and since.

Mr. O. O. Watson offered the following:

Resolved, That we request the Republicans in the Councils to pass the bill, offered by Mr. Knight, to employ three hundred men in exca-vating the canal east of 3d street. He said that he had drawn up a bill for this purpose, and Mr. Knight had introduced it in the Councils, but it slept in committee. The object is to give employment to men, and if Congress sees that the Corporation is working at it, it will not give it to a company. Mr. W. B. Jones was in favor of asking Congress to aid us, but he was not sure but the pest thing to be done was to fill the canal up. Mr. Watson said it could not be filled up or covered over, for what will become of the sew. erage; and Gen. Michler, in proposing to make a sewer, proposed what could not be done. He had made a report which had been puffed up into a big balloon. The canal must be kept open, and if made into a sewer it will cost mil-

After some further debate, Dr. Boyd submitted an amendment, "and to ask Congress to pass a bill to grade every avenue in this city, and thus give work to every one in need of employment," which was accepted, and, as amended, the resolution was adopted. Adjourned.

Fourth Ward Democratic Club. The regular weekly meeting of the Fourth Ward Democratic Club was held last evening the Presidentt Owen Thorn, Esq., in the chair-Messrs. Jno. O'Connell, R. L. Wilson, Michael Keagan and P. McMahon were elected members of the club. Mr. J. Mae Namara offered the same resolution which he presented at the last meeting providing that each member of the club act as a committee to designate those citizens who ne-glected to register at the last election, and present a list to the chairman of the select commit-tee recently appointed, and calling upon the citizens in each ward to act with the club to defeat the radical party at the next election. Mr. McNamara urged the passage of the resolution. The Democrats should commence work now, and not wait until the last two or three days. Many did not register for the last election because they did not want to go up with colored citizens. Mr. Dennis Connell thought it was unnecessary to adopt these resolutions. Congress had not decided to give us another charter, and it was no use to begin work before it was known what kind of government we should have in the District. He thought the Fourth Ward was all safe, and a committee should be appointed to go in the other wards and see that the Democrats were organized and ready to work for

Mr. John F. Collins said there were present four or five ger lemen who were members of the Journeymen's Association, and it was a question whether they could with propriety belong to both organizations. If the association was to place itself in antagonistic positions with the Trades Union he would have to resign from one of the organizations. The President said the object of the association was to settle the issues between the contractors and the journeymen in an amicable manner. If they could not do so, they would have to fight them. Mr. Collins said he thought the difficulties between this organization and the Trades Union could be settled without strikes or collisions, yet there was a possibility of a collision between

Mr. Angus said there must be a conflict at once between the master mechanics and the ourneymen. The carpenters under his employment said he should have but two apprenice boys, and he was going to have as many as he chose. The bricklayers had told their employers the same thing. There would be a conlict on this question alone. Mr. Collins said that if the master mechanics would approach the journeymen in the right spirit there would be no need of strife or conflict. Journeymen had rights as well as their employers. Mr. Harkness said there was no justice in limiting the number of apprentice boys. The question was decided that no man ough to belong to both the employer's and workingmen's organizations, though he had the priv ilege. Adjourned. CASE DISMISSED. - Yesterday afternoon Lieut. Eckloff, of the Seventh precinct police, had before Justice Walter Messrs, Young, Mul ligan & Co., charged with a violation of the Corporation laws in reference to licenses by giving exhibitions for gain without having first procured a license therefore. The defendants before the magistrate put in the following letter as their plea, which fully explains itself: "City Register's Office, Washington, D. C., Feb. ruary 3, 1868.-Under the decision of the 'Mayor' in the case of B. Henze, who keeps the Metropolitan Hall, on 'D' street, near 11th, that he would not require a dicerse,' the same must also apply to Canterbury Hall, on Louistana avenue, between 6th and 4 % streets. Therefore this office cannot require a license of Messrs. Young & Co. until the 'Mayor' sets aside the permission given to Metropolitan Hall. Very respectfully, "F. A. Boswell, Register W. C."

It appearing from this note that the parties were without a license from no fault of their own it also appearing that they had applied for the license in answer to which application hey received this note the case was dismissed. The Mayor, as also the Register was present during the examination and when the Justice alluded to that part of the letter referring to the decision of the Mayor, that officer immediately asserted that he had not made any decision in reference to Mr. Henze. The difference between these places of amusement is that at the Metropolitan there is strictly no admission fee charged, the price of a ticket being the price of a drink, for which the ticket is received in payment, and the bar of that hall is licensed; while at the Canterbury an admission fee is charged and the drinks are "extra."

THE NEW FISH WHARF .- The work of building a fish wharf at the foot of Twelith street was commenced this morning under the direc-tion of James H. Johnson, who had a corps of workmen engaged in cutting away the ice pre-paratory to driving piles, filling in and operat-ing upon the superstructure generally. Mr. Johnson, it will be remembered, petitioned the City Councils for the right to erect a fish wharf at this point, and was granted the privilege for ten years at $1,000 per annum. The improve-ment will be executed in an excellent and permanent style, and will be ready for use, it is said, in time for the opening of the season.

ALEXANDRIA ITEMS .- The Gazette of yesterday afternoon says: The Supreme Court of Appeals, now session in Richmond, yesterday reversed the decision of the Circuit Court of Fairfax county, in the case of the Commonwealth against a colored man named Mathews, and a woman named Garner, convicted of the murder of a colored man named Garner, the husband of the woman, the former of whom was sentenced to be hung, and the latter to the penitentiary for life. The murder was committed near Anan-dale, about six miles from this city. A Fenian Demonstration in London.

On Saturday, a very daring act—though probably only a bad joke—was perpetrated in broad day in a part of the city of London which is usually crowded, and under the very windows of the Lord Mayor—the posting of a seditious placard on the front of the Mansion House, and on that part of it upon which royal proclamations are always exhibited. The proclamations are always exhibited. The document was wholly in manuscript. At the head of it were the figures 1868, immediately below which was a pen-and-ink sketch of an Irish harp, surrounded with representations of shamrock, and below that again the words "God save Ireland!" On each side of these emblems were the capital letters "I. R.," denoting, it is presumed, Irish Republic. Then followed this elegant effusion, some of the words of which were sought to be emphasized by the use of capitals: "The Irishmen of America are united! Irishmen of England, follow their example! Unite, forward, ye fearless sons of Ireland! Stand for the old country!" The whole of this production was written upon a mean looking slip of paper, and immediately below it another slip of paper had been pasted upon which were the words, in letters nearly an inch long, "God save the Green," which might at first sight have been taken for the familiar expression of loyalty with which all royal proclamations conclude.

THE COURTS.

CRIMINAL COURT, Justice Pisher .- Yesterday, after our report closed, Mr. Carrington concluded his opening argument, and was followed by Mr. Fendall for the prisoner. Mr. Norris then spoke of the importance of the case, and the consideration it should obtain from the jury, but had not closed his argument when the Court adjourned. Te-day .- Mr. Norris resumed his argument for the defence, contending that the prisoner ought to be acquitted from the fifth prayer that the Court had granted. "If from all the evidence in the cause the jury believed the de-ceased had made threats to take the life of the prisoner, and that immediately before the mortal blow was given the deceased had assaulted the prisoner with such violence as to have caused a man of ordinary prudence and cour-age to have reasonably believed that he was in imminent danger of his life, or of grievous bodily harm, and that it would have been more dangerous for the prisoner to attempt a retreat, or to flee from the assailant, or to give an alarm, then the prisoner ought to be acquitted altogether," and reviewed the testimony, saying that the law would acquit him.

After the close of Mr. Norris' argument, District Attorney Carrington reviewed the remarks of Mr. Norris, and said the principles were so clear "that he who runs may read." He then spoke of the conceded facts. They had both quarreled about this woman, whom the deceased and witness both kept as a mistress. Deceased at one time attacked him, threw him down, and drew his knife on hun. Again deceased threatened the life of the prissoner, but in all this he did wrong, as did the prisoner, when, disregarding the obligations of society, and malice burning in his heart, he said, "Let Dumas come; I have sharpened this knife for him

MURDER TRIAL IN ALEXANDRIA .- In the Circuit Court, to-day, before Judge Thomas, Thomas Perry, one of the parties indicted for the murder of Edward Devlin, was arraigned and placed upon trial, the prosecution being conducted by W. Willoughby, and the defence by C. E. Stuart and G. S. Miner.

The first witness called was Lieut. Chester, who testified as to the identity of the body of Devlin, and the characters of the deceased and the prisoners. Col. Miller testified as to the time the party left Fort Foot, the condition of the prisoners on their return-all of them being very drunk; Perry had stated that Devlin was drowned;next day Perry and Adams both stated that Devlin had fallen overboard, and was drowned: Kearney was unable to give any statement, in censequence of being oblivious from the effects of drink; noticed Kearney's eye black and nose bloody; said he received a blow from one of his companions in attempting to jump overboard after Devlin; saw blood in the boat, but there was very little; saw a broken oar with spots of blood on the handle; character of the prisoners not very good; Devlin's character good, but surly; Perry said Devlin was drowned about the Light House on Jones' Point, near the Maryland shore. Sergeant Driscol testified that on the night in question Perry had told him that Devlin was drowned, and Perry got into the boat by himself, and shoved out into the river and said to witness if you want to rescue Devlin follow me. Did not see Perry again that night-witness came up to Alexandria, and when he got back Perry had been locked up—oar was broken near the blade—saw the blood on the boat same in the bottom of the boat some, on the seat-in all about a table spoonful-when Perry was called to return with the boat, did not know whether he came back or not, as witness ran immediately up to the quarters; there was no ill feeling between the prisoners and deceased; Devlin would occasionaly drink to intoxication. The examination of witnesses for the prosecution was continued .- Alex. Gazette, 5th.

Notes.—Proposals must be to carry the mail with "celerity, certainty, and security," using the terms of the law, and they must be guaranteed by two responsible persons, certified to as such by a postmaster or judge of a court of record.

No pay will be made for trips not performed, and for each of such omissions not satisfactorily explained three times the pay of the trip may be deducted. For arrivals so far behind time as to break connection with depending mails, and not sufficiently excused, one-fourth of the compousation for the trip is subject to forfeiture. Fince will be imposed, unless the delinquency be satisfactorily explained, for neglecting to take the mail from or into a post office; for suffering it to be injured, destroyed, robbed, or lost; and for refusing, after demand, to convey the mail as frequently as the contracter runs, or is concerned in running, vehicles on the route.

mand, to convey the ball as frequently as the contract tracter runs, or is concerned in running, vehicles on the route.

The Postmaster General may annul the contract for disobeying the post officelaws or the instructions of the Department. He may alter the schedule of departures and arrivals, and also order an increase of service by allowing therefore a provata increase on the contract pay. He may also curtail or discontinue the service in whole or in part at a provata decrease of pay, allowing one month's extra compensation on the amount of service dispensed with. Bids should be addressed to the "Second Assistant Postmaster General," superscribed "Proposals, State of Florida," and sent by mail.

For forms of proposals, &c., and other information, see advertisement of October 31, 1867, and of this date, in pemphlet form, at the principal post offices.
